Course overview

The course qualifies you to instruct parents and carers in The Children's Reflexology Programme. It covers the following subject areas in enough depth for this purpose:

- Reflexology - Overview, basic reflexes and techniques.
- Running a course in The Programme.
- Teaching techniques and practice.
- Rhymes, animals and illustrations associated with the reflexes.
- Treatment protocols for use in different circumstances.
- Anatomy and physiology - the basics of the main systems.
- Running a business based on the Programme.

You will be expected to give reflexology to, and receive it from, your fellow students during this course.

In order to qualify you will be required to:

- Complete the course to the satisfaction of your tutor.
- Participate in a micro-teach exercise with your peers during the course, including a self-assessment and a peer assessment.
- Complete written assignments within three months of taking the course, on anatomy and physiology, parent/carer impact assessment, and reflective practice.

Once you have completed the course you will be able to teach parents and carers under the banner of The Children's Reflexology Programme and will have ongoing access to a wide range of supporting materials and services for that purpose, including your own personal area of the website. Note that in order to remain an instructor you will be required to purchase official course materials for each of your students and to abide by an appropriate code of ethics.
